how to build a TIME CAPSULE

Inspired by Sarah Everett’s
The Probability of Everything

1. Gather items to include in your time capsule:
   These can be special objects, photos, notes from friends and family, drawings, or anything else that has personal meaning to you.

2. Choose a container: You can use something like an old box, jar, or even a plastic bag to store your items in.

3. Decorate the container if desired: Use markers or paint to make the container look unique and special!

4. Write a note about what is inside the time capsule and who it’s from: Include your name as well as any messages you have for people in the future.

5. Put the items and the note into the container and seal it shut with tape or glue.

6. Choose a place to bury or hide the time capsule. Make sure the time capsule is stored safely and securely: Place it somewhere that won’t get disturbed by weather or animals, and make sure someone knows where it is so you can retrieve it later on!

7. Set a date in the future to open your time capsule and share its contents with friends or family! Enjoy reliving the memories of today when you open up your time capsule in the future.
