BIG. FAT. MISTAKE.
And Other Stories We Write Together

STARTED BY RICK BENGERS

PREVIOUSLY PUBLISHED AS ONCE UPON A PANCAKE FOR YOUNG STORYTELLERS
Emma has always been a scientist.

Her first word was why. Ever since, it’s been her favorite word—along with what, how, where, who, and when. All the best words were questions too.

“What,” she asked herself one day, “does sand look like up close?” So she got out her microscope and looked . . . and she was gobsmacked! It looked like

Emma decided to look at other ordinary things up close. She looked at

WHAT IS THIS?

HINT: SOMEONE WHO STUDIES OR COLLECTS THEM IS CALLED A LEPIDOPTERIST!

STORY #20
Next, she decided to look at

And then something crazy happened

WHAT DID SHE SEE? DRAW IT!